Ruling of the Lower Courts in the Case of Engineer Lennon Affirmed by the Supreme Justices.

Decision Against Broker Chapman, Who Refused to Testify Before the Senate-Other Opinions.

WASHINGTON, April 19.-The Supreme Court of the United States to-day affirmed, in an opinion delivered by Justice Brown, the decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals for the Sixth circuit in the case of the petition of James Lennon for a writ of habeas corpus. Lennon was a locomotive engineer on the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Railroad, and as such refused to haul the cars of the Toledo, Ann Arbor & Lake Michigan Railroad Company in disobedience of an order of the Circuit Court for the Northern district of Ohio because the engineers of the Ann Arbor road were in sympathy with them. Lennon was arrested and a fine of $50 imposed. This occurred in the Circuit Court for the Northern district of Ohio. He immediately filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus, which was successively denied by the courts below and their action sustained by the Supreme Court to-day. The case originated in 1893 and attracted wide attention. Justice Brown, in rendering the opinion, said that the only question raised in the case is whether the Circuit Court exceeded its jurisdiction in holding Lennon for contempt, the Supreme Court not being at liberty to consider the testimony or to inquire whether the facts justified the action. He said that the fact that Lennon was not a party to the original suit for an injunction was pear that he had notice of the issuing of an injunction by the court, which it appeared from the testimony he had. No atterfere with Lennon's contract with his court said, to decide whether an engineer service of a railroad company between stations, though cases might be imagined load of passengers in an unfrequented spot might imperil their safety and even their lives. On the question of the injunction the court says it was proper, as it bore solely on the relations of the railway companies to each other. It was a question for the court below to determine whether Lennon's action in delaying the train five hours at a way station was taken in pursuance of a determination to abandon the service of the company or for the purpose of disobeying the court's injunction. The finding of the trial court was against him on that point and the Supreme Court held that there was no error in this judgment.

Two cases recently argued by ex-Presright of the city of Hammond, in the State of Indiana, to annex land belonging to Car-oline M. Forsythe, which she resisted. She sought to enjoin the collection of taxes, and after failing in the state courts, took courts she also failed and the decisions below were affirmed by to-day's opinion. The other case was that of the City Railway Company vs. the Citizens' Railroad Company, of Indianapolis, reported elsewhere.

The court refused the application for a writ of certiorari and habeas corpus by Elerton R. Chapman, the broker who rewhether senators had speculae in Sugar stocks while the Wilson tariff by was before that body. Chief Justice r'uller, who give testimony. The sentence of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia to thirty days in jail and $100 tine was affirmed and Chapman's application for writs of certiorari and habeas corpus were denied. The chief justice said the case was entirely different from the Kilbourn case. ject matter as affecting the Senate, he said, was within the jurisdiction of the Senate. The questions were not intrusions into the affairs of the citizens; they do not seek to ascertain any facts as to the conduct, methods, extent or details of the firm in question, but only whether that firm, confessedly engaged in buying and selling stocks and in particular the stock named, was employed by any senator to buy or sell for him any of that stock whose market price might be affected by the Senate's ac-"We cannot regard these questions," the chief justice said, "as amounting to an unreasonable search into the private affairs of the witness simply because he may have been in some degree connected with the alleged transactions. and as investigations of this sort are within the power of the two houses they can-

Shriver of the New York Mail and Express, all refused to give testimony for the investigating committee and are affected by this decision. Mr. Chapman is the only recalcitrant witness who has been tried by the courts, his being a test case.

In the case of the United States vs. Clarence Greathouse, Justice Harlan rendered an opinion holding that the Tucker act did not repeal the clause of a former law giving three years additional to claim-"beyond the seas" to file claims in the Court of Claims against the government. Greathouse was consul general to Japan and made claim for the return of fees turned into the United States treasury to which it afterwards appeared he was entitled. His case turned on the fact whether the case was barred by limitation.

The petition for a writ of certiorari in the case of the Mutual Life Insurance Company vs. Nelly Phinney was granted. The case comes from California, and involves a claim for the payment of an insurance policy of $100,000.

Justice Harlan handed down the opinion of the court in the case of the Northern Pacific vs. Junius G. Sanders and others,

The decision was favorable to the claims of settlers that claims made under such conditions are valid.

In the case of Charles W. Nordstrom, under sentence of death in Washington State, the court granted a stay of proceedings to await the decision of Nordstrom's appeal to this court from a decision below refusing him a writ of habeas corpus. An order was issued in the case of Joseph lasigi, late consul of the Turkish government at Boston, charged with embezzlement, directing that the mandate of this court refusing Iasigi's petition for a writ of habeas corpus be issued at once instead of waiting the usual thirty days.

OUR LUMBER SUPPLY.

ber Will Soon Be Cut. WASHINGTON, April 19.-The secretary of agriculture sent to the Senate a report by the chief of forestry division of the department on the amounts of white pine and other coniferous timber standing, and its consumption in the United States, in response to a resolution by Senator Chandler. The reports state that accurate statistics are unobtainable, but that while pine will be cut in the United States for many decades, as owners of the stumpage control their holdings, the enormous amounts which hitherto have been cut annually cannot be had beyond the next five or six years, even with Canada to belp out our deficiencies. It is said that since 1873 there has been cut in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota 154,000,000,000 feet, board measure, and 83,000,000,000 shingles; and in the whole country the equivalent of 200,000,-000,000, feet, board measure, in eighteen years. The wood pulp industry now consumes 800,000,000 feet of pine, spruce and hemlock annually. The average consumption of the timber is 20,000,000,000 feet, and there is left standing in the Northern States, it is estimated, 100,000,000,000 feet, coniferous growth, divided as follows: Wisconsin, 10,000,000,000; Michigan, 18,000,000,000; Pennsylvania, 10,000,600,000; New York, 15,-000,000,000, and the remainder among other States. This time it is likely to be different. Mr. Manley was severely criticised for "laying down" at St. Louis during a critical stage of the convention fight, and Mr. Fessenden, of Connecticut, gave utterance on that occasion to the famous declaration: "God hates a quitter." COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., April 19.-The physicians of two States have a most interesting case to consider. It developed through a post mortem examination made vesterday on the body of Judge John Rudd, who died Friday, after an illness that baffied the physicians of Nebraska and Iowa. Until last winter he was an exceptionally strong and hearty man, weighing nearly two hundred pounds. He ate a hearty dinlast meal he was ever able to enjoy. He was seized with a violent pain in the throat and became unable to swallow, except at rare intervals. The post-mortem examination revealed the fact that he had choked to death. A pine splinter over an inch in length was found imbedded in the throat. It was evidently a sliver from a board, as one side of it was painted red, and was apparently cut from a plank in a fence or barn and used as a toothpick.

He spoke feelingly for the overworked carriers, who were described as being literally 'on the run" for eight hours every day. Mr. Heath said he fully understood and appreciated the needs of the city and promised to give the matter his earliest consideration. It is purely a matter of money with the department, however, and, although there is no doubt about the increase being made, it is doubtful if the force can be materially increased before the 1st of

A movement is understood to be in progress, having for its object the revocation of that part of the civil-service rules which applies to the clerical force of pension agencies. The extension of the rules to the agencies became operative July 15, 1895, and under the provisions an agent cannot remove an employe without the approval of the commissioner of pensions. It is claimed that this is an injustice to the agents, as well as depriving the administration of much patronage. The objectors contend above in eight hours' actual work. The that the agents, who are heavily bonded in amounts ranging from $75,000 to $150,000, should be allowed to select those to whom they intrust the work and for whom they are held responsible. Thus at Columbus, O., and Topeka, Kan., it is pointed out the agents cannot select any of the clerks who sign checks during the year representing many millions of dollars for which the agents are held responsible. There are 500 clerks affected by the extension of the rules referred to.

Chicagos, meaning the Chicagos in the good old days when they had a team that caused the spectators to catch their breath on account of the swift ball the Colts handed out, gathered at the Bates House last night to renew the acquaintance with the remaining members of the only ball team on earth that used to have $10,000 beauties to sell. Out of the famous nine that formerly played here when Indianapolis was in the big league, only Anson, Pfeffer and Ryan remain. Good-natured Ned Williamson is gone, dear old "Silver" Flint long since passed over the river, the "Only" Kelley has joined his brothers in the other world, Tom Burns is running a little New Engclub at Springfield (Mass.), John Clarkson is seldom heard of, and the others have drifted away to other teams or mixing drinks, but Anson, Pfeffer and Ryan stick together-the turee hottest headed men of the entire lot. In the eighteenth round Hopkins started to force the fight. Erne landed hard on the chin and the colored boy went down with a thump, his head striking the floor very hard.
